Part of the time the squad, with Coach Joe Brusse, was in the gymnasium at a blackboard lecture. Coach Brusse said that the squad was advancing rapidly and that within one week's time the boys would be ready for the season's plays. Brusse will not give signals on the field but will teach them before every practice in the gymnasium at the close of the setting up exercises.

D. A. Callahan, who is athletic advisor for the school, was on the field Friday. ## WILL OPEN TODAY

Rain Interfered With Performance, but Not Determination of Performers.

The Frontier Days Wild West shows vere here as scheduled Friday, but somehow or other, the management, in its haste to get the grounds in shape, and the other multifarious details arranged had neglected the weather man. result was that, after a good crowd had assembled, and the shows were ready to begin, the sharp shower of Friday came up. Rain checks were issued and the grand stand was soon cleared. Almost immediately the sun came out again, and the clouds cleared away. It was too late, however, and the grounds were rather wet anyway, and so the slow was called off for the afternoon. The show will be given Saturday, Monday and Tuesday afternoons, however, and the weather man is believed to have accepted a bribe to be good and "stay pat" as the politician says.

The show will give a parade this morning, starting at 10 o'clock, when the business district of the city will be covered and also two routes to Wandamere, where the shows are given in the motordrome arens. From the appearance of the aggregation it would appear that the members of the shows are more accustomed to the wild plains than to the show business, but that nevertheless there will be an exhibition that is well conducted and quite out of the commonplace for each of the three remaining afternoons. The decision to have no shows at night will, it is said, be strictly followed. assembled, and the shows were ready title.

During the winter Clarke starred on American and European tracks, both in six day grinds and match sprints. Last spring he returned to Salt Lake with Floyd MacFarland, his manager and team-mate. He and MacFarland appeared on the Salt Palace saucer track this summer and made a great record, Clarke winning the western championship. All summer long MacFarland attempted to arrange for a match between Clarke and Kramer for the championship, but Kramer declined to meet the little Salt Lake rider. At the close of the Salt Palace season MacFarland and Clarke left at once for Newark, determined to "smoke out" the national champion. That they did so is evidenced by the telegram announcing the terms of the race.

Since their return to Newark, Clarke and MacFarland have been appearing in open and handicap races at the Velodrome. However, Clarke and Kramer have not appeared in competition in the same race, so that their relative speed and condition cannot be judged. Clarke celebrated his return to the Velodrome by winning the five mile open race.

LOSE MATCHES ON HOME GREEN

Warren K. Wood and William C. Fownes, Jr., Win in Semi-. Finals of Tourney.

BOTH CONTESTS FILLED WITH INTENSE INTEREST

'Chick" Evans Looks an Easy Winner Until the Sixteenth Hole Is Reached.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept 15.—The mid-west will meet the western edge of the east for the amateur golf championship of the country at the Country club tomorrow. The winners in the semi-final round were Warren K. Wood of the Homewood club, Chicago, and William C. Fownes. Jr., of the Oakmount Country club, Pittsburg

The losers, both of whom went down on the home green, were Walter R. Tuckerman of the Stockbridge Golf club and Charles Evans, Jr., of the Edge-Tuckerman of the Stockbridge Golf club and Charles Evans, Jr., of the Edgewater Golf club of Chicago. Wood won from Tuckerman by 2 up, and Fownes from Evans by 1 up.

The much neglected putter settled the matches today, proving a more roughly weapon than the far-famed mid-iron of the wooden-headed driver. Wood randown half a dozen putts more than ten feet on the greens, while Fownes's stability in that important department and Evans's failure won the other match. Both the winners used the putting cleek, ignoring the mallet putter, which has ignoring the mallet putter, which has gnoring the mallet putter, which has been tabooed by the British association.

Evans Is Unlucky.

Evans Is Unlucky.

"Chick" Evans, a hot favorite for final honors, will never forget the sixteenth hole at the Country cmb, over the smooth green of which he lost his chance for the championship. The sixteenth hole is only 125 yards from the tes to the near edge of the green and even ordinary players make it in three strokes, despite a trio of deep traps that yawn in front of the smooth surface. With two holes safely stowed away in his bag. Evans tossed his ball deftly on the edge of the green. It looked like and easy 3, tossed his ball deftiy on the edge of the green.

It looked like and easy 3, and when Fownes, a minute later, fell short and was dangerously near the edge of one of the traps, half the crowd started back for the clubhouse, satisfied Evans had victory well within his grasp.

But Fownes pitched his ball from the edge of the trap cighteen feet past the hole. Then Evans putted with perfect confidence that the match was his with a half for the hole, but the ball ran over. Fownes holed out his putt, and Evans missed his by a hair and lost the hole. The break was astonishing and disturbed the youngster, and when on the next hole Fownes laid his second dead to pin and holed out 350 yards in 3. Evans was anxious for the first time since his arrival in the east.

Each was on the green for the second shot, but again Evans was too strong with his putter, and the hall overran, while Fownes laid him third dead. Evans failed to run down a six-foot putt, and with tears in his eyes, joined the hundreds that had ringed the hole in applauding the winner.

For the first time, after ten years' work, Fownes found himself a finalist in the mational event.

In the morning play for twenty-four out of the thirty-six holes, W. R. Tuckerman of Stockbridge held Warren Wood of Homewood, Chicago, almost at his mercy, the morning round ending four looks to the good for him. But Wood proved himself a good upfill player and placked up two of the holes at the very start in the afternoon, wholly by his putting.

Tuckerman's defeat was practically accomplished on the seventh hole in the afternoon, when he pulled tee shot into a trap, while on the home green, Wood clinched the contest by holding another loaches and Manager Are Preparing an Extensive Schedule for Youngsters.

ARRANGING GAMES

Rex Midgley, assistant manager of ath etics, consulted with Coach Bennion Friday to get his advice concerning the schedule for the freshman team. Coacl Bennion, Assistant Coach "Fillie" Ole son and Midgley, all desire a first-class schedule, but find many difficulties in the way.

The freshman team can play no games that will interfere with the varsity schedule and they cannot play match games on Cummings field because of the new sod. The grass is still tender and during the first year or more must be used as little as possible.

Assistant Manager Midgley is in communication with the Academy of Idaho.

It was a great heat. They were well together till the stretch when Harvey Ernest came up from hehind in a great drive with Locust Boy and beat J. Gahagan with Dr. Fox by a neck.
